STORY

It needs a bit of a larrikin to take two traditionally very separate varieties and just slap them together, but that's just what pioneering Australian winemakers did – and the combo works exceptionally well. An Australian classic.

WINEMAKER'S NOTES

It's well known that McLaren Vale makes great Shiraz, but less well known is that Vale Cabernet can also excel. With good harvesting decisions you can create a blend with lift and elegance but also with a rich full palate. Something I believe we have achieved with our Larrikin.

BOUQUET AND PALATE

Succulent florals, fresh ground coffee, and fine cocoa combine with dried thyme, pepper, and cassia. There's a flush of jersey caramel and milk chocolate that lends fullness to the palate while subtle supporting oak adds depth along with the fine textured tannin from the fruit.
